

WILL PROTECT THE HEADWATERS OF THE RIO HONDO

Purpose of Enlarging the Lincoln Forest Reserve.

OF VITAL IMPORTANCE TO THE PORTALES VALLEY

Washington, Oct. 8.—The boundaries of the Lincoln forest reserve, New Mexico, have been considerably changed by a proclamation issued by the president, eliminating certain treeless areas from the reserve, and including two additional tracts. The eliminations include an irregular strip of 120,560 acres extending the entire length of the reserve on the west, and 24,320 acres lying on the northern boundary, in townships 7 south, ranges 14, 15 and 16 east, both of which are bare practically, showing nothing but grass and sage.

As a result of the elimination on the western boundary, a small tract in the extreme southwestern corner of the reserve is now detached from the main body of the reserved lands. It, however, still constitutes a part of the reserve.

The additions consist of a tract of 40,400 acres, embracing the eastern end of the Capitan mountains and a larger tract containing 154,300 acres, lying directly north of the Mesquero Apache Indian reservation and adjoining the forest reserve on its eastern boundary.

The chief object in extending the reserve over this additional area in the region between Sierra Blanca and Capitan mountains is to protect the forest cover of the Pecos river, the Hondo river, rising in this region. The success of the Hondo reservoir project, which is now in progress under the reclamation service, and which is of importance to the Pecos valley, depends upon the conservation of these headwaters. Regulation of their flow is also essential to prevent silting, which constitutes a most serious obstacle in connection with the storage of waters in the region.

In addition to this main purpose to be served by the extension of the reserve, the protection of these lands will result in greatly benefiting mining interests in that locality by insuring controlled use of timber, which will preserve a permanent supply for local use. It will also be the policy of the old government to allow the fullest utilization of forage products. For this purpose, should any reduction in the number of stock now using these lands be found necessary in future to prevent over grazing of the range, the number allowed will be gradually reduced until the proper limit is reached. Any change that may be found necessary will be effected as gradually as possible and every effort will be made to protect and further the interests of stockmen.

The government has recently undertaken the work of establishing timber on a portion of the Staked Plains extending across the Texas state line into eastern New Mexico. For this purpose the forest reserve has been proclaimed in the Santa Hill district of Roosevelt county, New Mexico, just north of the town of Portales. The reserve consists of a narrow strip of land containing 172,000 acres extending 36 miles west from the Texas line. The sandy nature of the soil in this region causes all moisture that falls to enter the ground, the only run-off being the underflow. YAVAPAI SUPERVISORS CONTRIBUTE ONE THOUSAND DOLLARS TO FUND.
After deliberating over the matter for a month the board of supervisors yesterday granted the request of the commissioners to allot a site on the court house plaza for the Bucky O'Neil monument, says the Prescott Journal-Miner. The supervisors were in a genial mood, and also agreed to appropriate $1,000 as a donation from the county to the fund. There had been some question as to the legality of doing this, and accordingly the board took legal advice before formally acting in the matter, although they have been in harmony with the movement from the beginning.

TWO AMERICANS SHOT AT SILVER BELL

COLD BLOODED MURDER IN NOTORIOUS CAMP AROUSES COMMUNITY—LYNCHING FEARED.

Silver Bell, Ariz., Oct. 8.—J. F. White, W. J. Warren and R. J. Cockrane, while returning from the saloon known as Webster's place at the extreme end of town at 11:20 last night were met by a party of three Mexicans, one of whom, according to a report, deliberately opened fire on the Americans without warning, killing Hawkins instantly and fatally injuring White. The latter died this morning. The assault occurred about half way between Webster's and Harrell's saloon.

The darkness and the suddenness of the attack prevented any accurate description of the murderers being obtained, though the witnesses declare positively they could identify him. After the shooting the Mexicans ran down the gulch and out of the flat towards Red Rock. Ranger Burdett was summoned to the scene and started in pursuit, but the murderer made good his escape under cover of the darkness and is still at large.

The murdered men both have good reputations and were not intoxicated at the time of the murder. Both were in the employ of the Imperial Copper company and had been in the camp for about six weeks.

Several rumors are afloat as to the motive of the deed. It is currently reported that one of the men had had some trouble with the Mexican in the mine a few days ago, and many believe the tragedy of last night to be the outcome of this. The camp is quiet today but there is a strong undercurrent of feeling against the murderer.

A hardened camp this is, and with a record of dastardly deeds which would fill many a page, Silver Bell has never before known anything to equal this killing. As a result the camp and ranchers for miles around are thoroughly aroused and there is a feeling here that the officers will have to use good judgment to get the murderers safely behind the bars if they are captured.

It is believed that a capture will be effected, as the posse is understood to have a good description of the murderers.

ROSSELL TO HAVE STREET CAR SYSTEM

CAPITALISTS APPLY TO CITY COUNCIL FOR FRANCHISE IN PECOS VALLEY CITY.

A request for a franchise to operate a street car system on the streets of Roswell, N. M., was made at the regular meeting of the city council last night, says the Roswell Record. It came up in the form of a proposed ordinance, which, if passed, would serve as a charter for the proposed street car company to operate its cars and lines. The action of the council in the matter was to refer the proposed ordinance to the finance committee.

The proposed street car company is made up of local parties. They are Dr. J. Odd Hamilton, Clymer Coldren, J. W. Hall, "and their associates," as the proposed charter reads. It is the proposition of the promoters to secure a 25 year franchise which would permit them to build and operate a street car system on the streets of Roswell and that at the same time will not prevent other companies from locating their lines here, and will not prevent the council from granting other such franchises.

The proposed ordinance says that until the city of Roswell shall attain a population of 15,000 the motive power of the cars will not be stated, but that when the population reaches that number, the motive power will be mechanical. This gives ground for the supposition that the motive power will be animal until the population reaches 15,000. The street car company is to pay for the taking of the census, to show that the town has or has not 15,000 at such time as it may be deemed necessary.

Another provision is that work on the lines must be started within four months after the franchise is granted, and that the cars must be running on two lines by next May.

The capital back of the proposed line is to come from parties residing in Memphis, Tenn.

Now that a site has been provided, and that the county has started the fund with a generous contribution, the commission will now have a basis on which to make an energetic canvass for funds.

THE REAL TEST
Of Herpicide Is In Giving It A Thorough Trial.

There is only one test by which to judge of the efficiency of any article, and that is by its ability to do that which it is intended to do. Many hair vigor may look nice and smell nice, but the point is—do they eradicate Dandruff and stop falling hair? No, they do not, but Herpicide does, because it goes to the root of the evil and kills the germ that attacks the papilla from whence the hair gets its life.

Letters from prominent people everywhere are daily proving that Herpicide's Herpicide stands the "test of use."

It is a delightful dressing, clear, uree and free from oil or grease. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. B. H. Briggs & Co., special agents.

IOWA FEEDERS BUY NEW MEXICO SHEEP

BIG SHIPMENTS GOING FROM THE HOME RANGE TO HARDIN COUNTY FEED LOTS.

Word comes that Hardin county, Iowa, farmers and stockmen are going into the sheep industry on a pretty large scale this fall, says the Chicago Drovers' Journal. The first consignment of sheep, which came from Albuquerque, N. M., were shipped in by Rogers & Benson, of Union. The total number of head already brought to the county aggregates 12,000, and have been distributed among the following well-known Hardin county feeders, all living in the vicinity of El Dorado, Union and New Providence: Thomas Walton, of Whitten, 3,000; H. J. Benson, of Union, 2,100; Seward Bros. of New Providence, 1,000; Lewis and W. B. Rash, of New Providence, 1,000; C. V. Hausor, of Union, 1,000; R. S. Rogers, of Union, 1,000; C. L. Rogers, of Union, 1,000; W. H. Rowen, of Union, 600; T. N. Mitchell, of Union, 500; Homer Cundiff, of Union, 500.

The freight on the three shipments of about 11,700 head will amount to close to $7,000. The feeding of these sheep will be the first experiment many of the farmers have ever had.

HENRY GASSAWAY'S HEIR IS MISSING

STRENUOUS NEPHEW HAS AGED WEST VIRGINIA MILLIONAIRE WORRIED.

Pittsburg, Oct. 8.—Gassaway Davis, favorite nephew and heir presumptive of Henry Gassaway Davis, of West Virginia, recently the democratic vice presidential nominee, and one of the wealthiest men in the state, has disappeared from the Homestead, Steel works, where he was employed as a firmman under an assumed name, and his wealthy relatives are exhausting every means to find him. The young man, who has always been noted for his love of adventure, has been gone for a month and has made no claim on the company for the pay envelope which lies in the office subject to his call.

It was about a year ago that the young man told his wealthy relatives that he was going out into the world to earn a living with his hands. At their solicitation he agreed to adopt an assumed name when occupying a menial position, and it was as "Oliver Hall" that he secured employment in the steel works.

From information today given the authorities by J. H. Davis, father of the young man, Henry Gassaway Davis, his uncle, kept close watch on the runaway nephew, and when he discovered him in the Homestead mills as Oliver Hall a few days after he started to work as a locomotive fireman he simply smiled and kept quiet.

A few days ago, however, when one of the Davis family went to the Carnegie offices at Homestead and asked to see Oliver Hall, the information was given that Hall had left the employ of the Carnegie company some time ago, a month or more, and that there was a balance in the pay envelope coming to him. The young fireman had disappeared and no one knew anything about him.

The messenger returned to West Virginia in haste and scattered the news that "Young Gassaway" has disappeared more than a month ago. J. H. Davis, his father, has come to the Pittsburg district to take up the search in person, while Henry Gassaway Davis has wired and telephoned to influential friends here to keep a lookout for the boy, who, it is understood, is to be made his principal heir.

"Young Gassaway" Davis has always had love for adventure, and it is said won the heart of his uncle by announcing when the latter went to Washington as United States senator that he, too, must be taken along. It is said that he was placed as a page under another name by the senator from West Virginia. The young fellow has on several different occasions since then disappeared and turned up under assumed names in the cars or some of his uncle's coal road locomotives in West Virginia. The millionaire uncle, fearing the boy would be killed, gave orders that he be not given dangerous employment.

Gassaway Davis is described as being slender and a trifle over six feet in height. He is smooth of face and does not look or act like one who looks forward to a $10,000,000 legacy. He is much at home in a locomotive cab.

The total number of head already brought to the county aggregates 12,000, and have been distributed among the following well-known Hardin county feeders, all living in the vicinity of El Dorado, Union and New Providence: Thomas Walton, of Whitten, 3,000; H. J. Benson, of Union, 2,100; Seward Bros. of New Providence, 1,000; Lewis and W. B. Rash, of New Providence, 1,000; C. V. Hausor, of Union, 1,000; R. S. Rogers, of Union, 1,000; C. L. Rogers, of Union, 1,000; W. H. Rowen, of Union, 600; T. N. Mitchell, of Union, 500; Homer Cundiff, of Union, 500.

The Passing of the Schooner. Last evening four large prairie schooners of the old-fashioned type that is becoming more and more rare as the story of the winning of the west is being developed, reached the city yesterday evening. The schooners, bearing in all twenty men, women and children from Russell county, Kansas, were bound for the timber regions of Arizona. Camp was pitched here for the night, and early this morning the caravan continued slow way.—Las Vegas Optic.

Fast Work. The Morenci volunteer fire department made a record run on Thursday last week, at which they coupled two hundred feet of hose, attached it to the hydrant and fitted the nozzle. The contest was between the Smelter and Store teams, and the first heat resulted in a tie, each team doing the stunt in 30 seconds. In the second heat the Store team won first time, making the connection in 22 seconds, while the Smelter team again made it in 30 seconds.—Morenci Leader.
